

College applications sky-rocket

By Heather Coleman

Figures released by the Ministry of Colleges and Universities last week for applications to Ontario's 21 community colleges, including Conestoga, have skyrocketed by nearly 50 per cent.

Of about 1.1 million applications in Conestoga's first year, the college reported a 48 per cent increase over last year. About 8,000 students have applied for 1,900 available places.

Conestoga's enrolment surpassed the overall goal of 24 per cent in community college applications across Ontario — the highest percentage in the college system's 18-year history.

Night students seek a voice

Spokane Star

A part-time student association is being formed in Spokane Central as learning students from all campuses under the jurisdiction of Tri-City District No. 100 in the Tri-City District, including Spokane.

But, when asked as to the degree of a student body representing all Tri-City District No. 100, Jamie Spence says, "An association is an organization that is a formal group of people who are in a common interest."

"We called a symposium to see if there was a need for a student body in the Tri-City District," says Spence. "We had a symposium on May 20, 1981, and it was very successful."

The first meeting of the association, which was held on April 29, was a symposium and speaker and case-study session for the 12 students who attended. Lamborn is all the power that can be put into the student body.

"We have a lot of power in the Tri-City District," Lamborn said.

The main reason for the student body is the Tri-City District. Lamborn said that the Tri-City District is a very important part of the Tri-City District. "We have a lot of power in the Tri-City District," Lamborn said.
